

Q1: Read the following passage carefully:

The Fox and the Goat

While reaching down to drink the water in the well one day, a fox fell in. Try as he would, he could not get out again because the walls of the well were too high.

Not long after a goat came along. Seeing the fox down there, he asked him the reason why.

“I am enjoying the cool, pure water,” replied the fox,

“Wouldn’t you like to jump down and taste it?”

Without stopping to think, the foolish old goat went down. No sooner had he got to the bottom than the cunning old fox jumped onto his back and climbed to the top.

Looking down at the unhappy goat the fox laughed and said, “Next time, friend goat, be sure to look before you leap.
